As the Association of Chief Academic Officers (ACAO), we support the role of college faculty and instructors in improving nonpartisan student voter engagement. We believe that student engagement in American democracy is integrally connected to curricular priorities of critical thinking and information literacy. We encourage our faculty colleagues across all ranks and disciplines to infuse in disciplinary- and subject-specific ways tenets of nonpartisan democratic and voter engagement into their work with students across the three pillars of voter registration, education, and turnout.

Mary Boyd, President ACAO
